VOL. XVIII. NO. 96. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1917 ONE CENT

THIRD CONTINGENT OF MEN LEAVE FOR CAMP SHERMAN

Mobilizee in Monongahela, Where They Entrained at Noon

WERE GIVEN GREAT SEND-OFF

Selected men from the Fifth District of Washington county, among whom were a large number from Charleroi, left Monongahela,the mobilization point, on a special train following the express which left that city at 1:06 p. m. this afternoon. There were 179 men in the party, in command of George Nuss of Monongahela, who was selected as Captain of the contingent by the exemption board Friday evening.

Two hundred and ten men reported and enrolled at Company A's Armory at 6:30 o'clock, following which the men took part in a parade which had been arranged by the citizens of Monongahela, and in which many of the fraternal organiizations and the school children were participants. After the parade the selected men were the guests of Monongahela Lodge No. 455, B. P. O. E., at a dinner served in the dining room of the Methodist church. The room was ample enough to seat all the men, as well as the members of the exemption board and members of the committee in charge.

A special orchestra furnished music during the dinner, after which a short program was given, during which Mayor McVicker, Joseph A. Herron, John O. Watson and Gilbert E. Koedel made short talks and Miss Core and Mrs. Wilson gave vocal solos. The evening's program concluded with the "Star Spangled Banner," after which most of the men left for their homes to make final arrangements for the trip to Camp Sherman. Before leaving on the train at noon today the men of the contingent were each provided with a box packed with lunch which had been prepared by the citzens of Monongahela. The demonstration throughout followed closely lines as laid down by Charleroi the evening before the first contingent of five per cent left for camp early in September.

CAPTAIN KITCHEL ON THE MONITOR

Capt. Joseph Kitchel, who is said to be the highest priced steamboat man in the Monongahela river has taken charge of the steamer Monitor of the Diamond Coal & Coke company. The Monitor is one of the best poolers in service on the local river.

TWO BOAT EXCURSIONS

The Steamer, City of Parkersburg will run an excursion this Saturday evening leaving Charleroi 8 p. m., Belle Vernon, 8:15, Fayette City 8:45 and Roscoe 9 p. m. On Sunday the boat will leave Brownsville under the auspices of the Eagles with an excursion party to Olympia Park, McKeesport, stopping at Newell 10:15, Roscoe 10:30, Fayette City 10:45, Belle Vernon 11, Charleroi 11:15, Monessen 12 noon, Webster 12:30 p. m., Monongahela City 1 p. m. Stewart's Fayette City orchestra will furnish the music. The round trip is 50c, children free.

STEAMER RISHER BEING REPAIRED

The steamer J. C. Risher of the Pittsburg Coal company, which has received a new hull as well as a new coat of paint, will soon be placed in commission in the pool trade on the Monongahela. The Risher, when owned by the Crump firm was used exclusively in what was known as the "barge trade," and occasionally made trips to Cincinnati and Louisville. The boat has always been rated as a top-notcher.

TIMBER CRAFT STILL USEFUL

Have Their Place in the Coal Trade of the Monongahela

MANY ARE NOW BUILDING

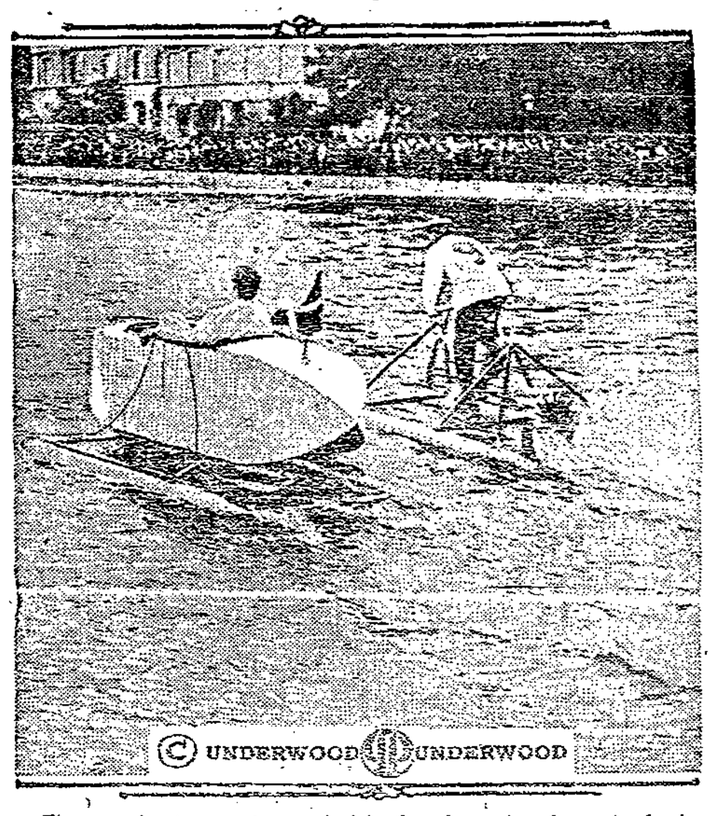
That the wooden barge and flat have not passed their days of usefulness in the coal trade on the Monongahela river is shown by the fact that Capt. W. C. McCune of the Dravosburg Dock Company, recently booked an order to construct twenty large timber barges. These craft are to be used in local pool work and will be placed in commission as soon as they are completed. Oregon fir will be used in their construction, a timber that has been found to give exceptional service and on account of the extreme lengths which can be secured gives a craft of exceptional rigidity.

It is true, however, that steel barges and particularly those of the larger type, are setting a new standard for transportation, but there will be uses for the timber craft as long as they can find the material to build them. This will be particularly true of the upper reaches of the river, where the locking facilities are not equal to those of the lower pools. It will be many years before any increase is made in the size of the locks above No. 6, although the coal development in that section of the valley has increased with great rapidity during the past few years. Even now a number of new mine openings are under way, which, when completed, will add several thousands of tons each year to the commerce of the Monongahela.

STRIKE OF SHIP CARPENTERS SETTLED

The strike of the ship carpenters and laborers of the Monongahela valley, which had been on for about a week was settled on Tuesday last and the men returned to work on Wednesday morning. In their demands the men asked for an advance for carpenters, caulkers and laborers of $1.00 a day. The settled on an advance of 50 cents a day, making the wages of skilled men $5.00 and of laborers $3.50.

Freak Speed-Craft Compete in Races at Annual Water Carnival in Copenhagen



The annual autumn water carnival in Copenhagen is quite as much of an extravagance, and, in some respects, is similar to the Mardi Gras at Coney Island or New Orleans. Each year brings new freaks in the way of water craft, and here are shown two of the latest in competition. The unusual boat at the left is built upon torpedo-shaped pontoons, the driver sitting in a "tonneau" over the motor which drives it. At the right, the competitor is ridi[illegible], from the pedals of which power is transmitted to a propeller

FINAL LIST OF THOSE EXEMPTED

We publish today the final list of those who have been exempted by the Board of the Fifth District from military service, because of dependent relatives and families, or for other causes, as provided for by the draft law. Exceptions to many of these exceptions will be made by David M. McCloskey,government attorney, and it is likely the appeals will be filed within a very short time before the district board. It is expected of course that many of the exemptions will stand, but it is the purpose of the government to scrutinize very carefully every exemption that has been made, that no one shall escape their responsibility unless legally entitled thereto. No further lists of this kind will be published until such time as there is another draft, which may be some time during the coming winter.

MINERS' WAGE INCREASE HAS BEEN GRANTED BY OPERATORS

CHANGE COURSE OF PETERS CREEK

The work of diverting Peters creek at Clairton, for the Carnegie by-products coke ovens, and which has been under way for the past eleven months, has been completed by the Gillespie contracting company of Pittsburg. The opening was made to reach the river at a point further down stream, in order to accommodate the necessities of the big coke plant.

TO PROMOTE SALE OF BONDS

Kerfoot W. Daily Named Chairman of County Finance Committee

WILL ASK ALL TO ASSIST

The sale of Liberty Bonds is to be pushed in Washington county. On Friday Col. James E. Barnett, chairman of the Committee of Public Safety for Washington county, appointed the following committee, representing [illegible] to perfect [illegible] for the sale and distribution and sale of the [illegible] series of Liberty bonds:—Kerfoot W. Daly, Charleroi, chairman; James L. Lockhart, M. W. McClane, John H. Donnan, Washington; A. H. Kern, Burgettstown; W. S. Lockhart, McDonald; James P. Castner, Donora; Joseph A. Herron, Monongahela; Jess P. Miller, Beallsville; D. M. Campsey, Claysville and C. C. Johnson, Canonsburg.

The chairman has power to subdivide the committee and make such other appointments throughout the county as will best promote efficient work.

It will be one of the purposes of the committee to enlist the wage earner in this campaign, to the end that all such may deposit their savings in the new Liberty Loan. The new issue will bear 4 per cent interest, payable semi-annually and will afford a form of security that is not excelled in the world. With a promised increase in wages to the miners it should not be a very difficult proposition for all mining men to lay aside some of their money with which to buy one or more of the new issue of bonds. The campaign will end on the 27th of this month, at which time the government hopes to have disposed of at least five billions of the issue.

New Scale to Continue During the War, but Not Over Two Years

PRICE OF COAL TO INCREASE

A new mining scale for the central competitive district has been agreed to by the coal operators and miners, which will continue during the duration of the war, providing it does not last over two years. Under the new scale which was ratified on Friday, the miners will receive an advance of 10 cents a ton for pick mining and an increase of $1.40 a day for labor; pay for yardage and deadwork will be increased 15 per cent instead of 20 per cent as demanded; trappers will get 75 cents a day raise and other boys $1.00.

This increase in wages, however, is to be absorbed in the increased price of coal to the consumer, which the fuel administrator of the government is expected to grant. In fact the operators agreed to the advance in wages on condition that they be granted a higher price for coal, otherwise they contended it would have been impossible to have conceded to any demands of the miners. The wage increase, according to operators, will add from 35 to 50 cents per ton to the cost of producing coal in the thick vein district, and considerably more in the [illegible] vein.

The [illegible] will provide provisions to prevent [illegible] outs and will be so drawn as to make it possible for either operators or miners to break it on the grounds of changed conditions, provided the war does not continue more than two years.

The agreement affects every mine in the Monongahela valley, including all of those which haul their product to railroad sidings by wagon. All forms of day labor is increased under the new scale, while miners as well as cutters and loaders will participate in the addition which has been made to the pay roll.

EXPRESS BUSINESS BADLY CONGESTED

Last week the express business was so badly congested in Pittsburg that the American Express company refused to send wagons to pick up the offerings when notified. At one time there were 33 carloads of express matter standing in the yards of the P. & L. E. with no help to unload it. The company is advertising for 200 men.

THE EXEMPTION BOARD

Members of the local draft board met in Monongahela Friday afternoon and evening to complete the details which sent 179 men from this district into the service of the national government at Camp Sherman. All of the many details looking toward this drafting of men have been in their hands and the government has depended upon them to "deliver the goods," as well as the men which it required from this immediate vicinity. How well they have attended to that duty is apparent to all. Their actions are a matter of public record, which is open to the inspection of those who may wish to inquire into any of their decisions.

All of these men who have important stations in the professional – industrial and political activities of the community and country. They were asked by the government to take up the arduous duty of drafting men, and to exempt such as had dependents or who were physically unfit but to keep in view at all times the paramount interests of the government. All this they have done without compensation and at ag reat personal sacrifice to themselves. No amount of work has been too great for them to undertake and no hours were too long for them to serve. They have been faithful to their trust and while their duties have at times been disagreeable and hard to perform, they have always kept in view the public welfare and acted accordingly. The board has been impartial and fair and we believe no censure can be directed against them because of [illegible] duty not [illegible]. The members are entitled to the thanks of the community for the excellent manner in which they have performed the duties which are attached to the important trust placed in their hands.

THE PRICE OF COAL

Under the new wage scale tentatively agreed upon between the miners and operators the day rate for labor employed in and about the mines will be $5.10 per day. This is for an eight-hour day, beginning at 7 in the morning, an hour off for noon and quitting at 4 o'clock. Ten cents additional has been added for mining, while increased wages are also provided for other features in connection with the production of coal.

Coal men admit that if the new wage scale is forced into effect without a compensating increase in the price of coal, they will be compelled to close down, because they will be unable to stand up under the increased expense. In the meantime the government is apparently making no effort toward giving the coal operator that relief to which he is apparently entitled. Even under present conditions a number of communities, some of them in the mining districts, are suffering from a fuel famine, with no immediate prospects of its alleviation. If such conditions can exist now, and under present conditions, what will be the outlook a few deeks hence, when the near approach of winter will bring a greater demand than ever for fuel.

If the present situation is to be relieved the coal operators will have to be given a higher price for their production. Otherwise conditions will be such that a coal shortage will be unavoidable in the district where coal is most abundant.

Sweden has certainly played the role of German's masked messenger boy to some purpose. It is announced from Washington that Secretary Lansing is in possession of 415 secret messages exchanged by the Kaiser's government through Swedish aid. No wonder the astounding facts are said to have "taken away the breath" of the foreign diplomats at Washington. Germany is a hard master and all that Sweden dares to do is to pretend pitiably that the role of diplomatic lackey is not unusual.

Germany now hints that she may be willing to give up Belgium for comp nsations and even contribute "a share" of a war indemnity paid that country. This looks as if the gradual climbing down process has begun. When it reaches the point of unconditional surrender there will be something doing in the peace line.

Meatless days and wheatless meals are not likely to have much effect on the price of these commodities. It may conserve, but the people will pay the same old price when they come to buy.

As has been truthfully said, it is much better to pay for the war because we want to than to pay for it because Germany [illegible] subscribe for [illegible] Liberty Bond.

The men who go to camp this week will learn among other things that while in the army at least they must wear shoes big enough or their feet. And it will be a most valuable lesson.

Starving in the midst of plenty—freezing in the very center of the bituminous coal region. Truly a peculiar situation for this section of Pennsylvania.

Charleroi High is performing again this afternoon in Greensburg. They may not win the game but they will be in it until the final whistle blows.

Mr. LaFollette has reached the distinction of being the most unpopular man in the United States. And that is going some.

There are some fellows who are always willing to do their "bit"—they will stand on the street and cheer as the parade passes by.

THE "MAKIN'S" IN FRANCE.

THE NEW S. O. S. FROM THE FRONT

You know how glad you are to get back to "your own brand" after you've tried some other kind of a smoke or when you couldn't get your favorite one.

Our boys in France are having a hard time trying to get any satisfaction out of French tobacco. There's plenty of it, but sooneho.. their smoke palate rebels at the new flavor. They want, most of all, the old, familiar brands of pipe tobacco and "makin's" and the cigarettes they used to have at home.

That's why you hear the new "S. O. S." from the Front—Send on Smokes. They want the good, old American kind that rolls over the tongue and just touches the spot.

We've made it easy for you to answer some Soldier's "S. O. S." The French government, this government and the Red Cross are all co-operating in a plan whereby you may send twenty-five cents to this newspaper and a generaus Tobacco Kit—far more than you actually pay for—goes forward at once and is received, duty free, across the ocean.

More than that, each Kit contains a stamped return postal card which the recipient may use to send you a message from the front. It is addressed to the donor and will come right back to you from the man who is having his smokes "on you."

We know that demands are many on the American people just now, but just think what "two bits" will do for the comfort of the soldier at the front. He is not in a position to get his favorite brand of tobacco, while you are in a position to send it to him.

NEXT OF KIN WILL BE NOTIFIED

Some Charleroi parents have b een unduly wrought during the past few days over stories told to them of the death or injury of some one of their family who is now doing army service, eitheer at home or abroad. Such a case came to light today.

A family residing on the hill was told that a son now with General Pershing's forces in France had been killed in battle; that his name had been seen in a foreign paper. Naturally the stories caused a great deal of nervousness in the home of this enlisted man and the relatives are rather apprehensive at the present time, fearing naturally for the safety of the boy who is doing his best for Uncle Sam.

In this connection it is only fair to say that government officials will promptly notify all parents or next of kin if any member of their household is killed or wounded or missing. The government has a record of every man in service; it shows to what unit he is attached, and where it is on service. All of these records are jealously guarded. If any soldier or sailor meets with a mishap his people are at once notified

Parents and relatives having members of their families in the service of the United States can rest assured that no information will be withheld which concerns enlisted men and in which they might happen to be interested. If they hear no word parents and others may know that "all is well" with the young man.

TO PREPARE BALLOTS FOR NEXT ELECTION

The county commisisoners on Friday by lot decided ties that had resulted from the primary election held in Washington county September 19. All candidates who weretied and wished, had the privilege of appearing at the commissioners' office on Friday morning and draw for themselves, but in cases of men who did not appear the commissioner made the drawings themselves. Most of the ties were in the offices of road supervisor, school director, auditor and election officers in the townships, although there were a few in the boroughs.

The most important tie was for the office of Burgess of California on the Republican ticket. Dr. C .W. Yarnall and H. W. Mahoney each had 71 votes. The two men went to the commissioners' office Friday morning and settled the matter, Mahoney winning. The ticket for the November election will be prepared immediately by the commissioners. It will require some time, as there must be different tickets for each voting precinct, as the names of the various candidates for local offices are of course different in each precinct.

Taught by Government to Preserve Foods, Girl Scouts Will Now Teach Others

When the Department of Agriculture began to consider the economic problems that the world war has created in Europe, its officials brought the problem home and began to solve it. One of the first undertakings was a publicity campaign urging people to conserve the food supply—principally the supply that comes from home gardens and orchards. Then, in order to make the campaign effective, young women were trained to teach others the art of canning and preserving. These young women, members of the Girl Scouts, are graduates of the school. They are Josephine Child, Ruth Colman, Mrs. H. A. Colman, head of the Washington Girl Scouts, and Agnes McElroy. They are already engaged in field work and are teaching other Girl Scouts how to preserve and can foods for the winter.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended with pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Thousands recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement below.

W. A. Bechtel, pattern maker, 120 Thompson Avenue, Donora, Pa., says: "I suffered from dull pains across my back at different times, for years. Whenever I stooped over or tried to straighten a kink caught me in the small of my back. The secretions from my kidneys were too freuent in passage and disturbed my rest at night. I often had to get up two or three times. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bechtel had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 47

TOO MANY BREAKS FOR HIM

Frenchman Employed by Real Estate Dealer Interviews Tenant With Surprising Results.

A local real estate dealer has a Frenchman in his employ whose usefulness is hampered only by his inability to master the English idiom, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. A tenant recently gave notice that he was unable to keep his lease on a house, and the Frenchman was sent out to find what was the matter. The former made this brief statement, and the latter took notes on it:

"Some time ago scarlet fever broke out in the neighborhood, and we sent the children to the home of their grandparents. Shortly afterward my wife's health broke down, and we decided to break up housekeeping. At about the same time the house was broken into by burglars, and our maid was so badly frightened that she left. My wife didn't feel like breaking in a new servant, and we have gone to boarding. I am sorry to break off relations with this firm, but things are breaking so bad with me that I have to. I'm all broken up about it, myself."

The Frenchman expanded his notes into the following report:

"Scarlet fever broke away in this tenant's neighborhood. Next, his wife's health broke into. So he decided to break in housekeeping. The house was broken down by burglars and the maid escaped. The lady doesn't want to break up a new servant. He is sorry to break up our relations, but he is badly broken. He says he is entirely broken out about it."

After the bad breaks were translated the report was clear.

"CAROLINE WAR" WAS SHORT

Border Trouble Between United States and Canada Threatened for Time, However, to Be Serious.

The "Caroline war" was a border trouble between the United States and Canada, in which a few persons were killed, but the trouble did not last long. In 1836-7 there was a strong republican spirit rife in parts of lower Canada which culminated in December, 1837, in an unsuccessful insurrection in Toronto. The leaders of the insurrection fled to the United States, and one of them, a newspaper man named Mackenzie, with 25 or 30 men, including a few from the American side who had joined him, seized an island in the Niagara river and set up a provisional government. Their navy consisted of a steamboat called the Caroline, and one dark night while she was lying on the American side a party of Canadians crossed the river and burned the boat, killing several men on board of her.

The affair caused great indignation. President Van Buren issued proclamations demanding observance of the neutrality laws. The New York militia was called out and placed under command of Gen. Winfield Scott. President Van Buren characterized the burning of the Caroline in American waters as "an outrage of a most aggravated character" and concluded by asking congress for "such appropriations as the circumstances in which our country is thus unexpectedly placed require." The affair dragged along a few years, but was finally settled without further bloodshed.

Stevenson Planned Much Work.

Considering Robert Louis Stevenson's short life, he wrote a great deal, but he planned still more. A writer who has been delving into his record offers what he says is a hitherto unpublished list of "two novels and tales," which Stevenson meant to write, but never did. It runs thus: The Indian Mutiny, Saranac Lake, 1888; Cannanmills, probably Saranac Lake, 1888; The Rising Sun, at Sea (Pacific), 1890; Dyce of Ythan, Samoa, 1892; The Shovels of Netwon French, Samoa, 1892; The Beach-Combers, Samoa, 1893; Sophia Scarlet, Samoa, 1893; The Owl, Samoa, 1893; Death in the Pot, Samoa, 1893; The Sleeper Awakened, Samoa, 1893.

Stevenson planned other work not in the line of fiction. They were: A Biography of the Duke of Wellington, a Biography of Hazlitt, a history of the Indian Mutiny, an English Grammar, to be illustrated from the English Classics. He also began and, for one reason or another, never completed these stories:

The Great North Road, Bournemouth, 1884; The Young Chevalier, 1893; Heathercat, Samoa, 1893; The Go-Between, Samoa, 1893; St. Ives, Samoa, 1894; Weir of Hermiston, Samoa, 1894.

Cocoanut Rafts.

Cocoanut palms grow luxuriantly in many parts of the Philippine Islands and there is a large demand for the nuts among the people who live in the cities and towns. The method of bringing them to the market at Manilla is both simple and picturesque. The cocoanuts are brought to the banks of the River Pasig, a rough framework of bamboo poles is constructed, and on this the nuts are piled so as to form a raft. Three or four men then pole the curious craft down stream into the city of Manilla.—Philadelphia Record.

Domestic Bliss.

"You are always reaching for something you can't afford."

"You were not always of that opinion."

"Oh, is that so?"

"I think so. At least you didn't say that when I proposed."

STRONGHOLD OF THE BEAVER

Largest Colony in Existence Making a Last Stand in Fastnesses of Southern Rockies.

Far up in the fastnesses of the southern Rockies, hidden in one of the most inaccessible nooks that remain in this country today, what is probably the largest existing colony of beaver, has established itself for a last stand.

The beaver was once one of the most abundant of our American animals, but the ease with which he was trapped and the value of his fur soon drove him far on the road to extinction. Soon only the most stringent of protective legislation was able to save him, but now he seems to be "coming back," and wherever he finds a favorable location he increases rapidly.

There is no better place in the world to study the interesting habits of this little animal than in that little hidden mountain valley just south of the Colorado line which the Mexicans have christened "Lagunitas" and the Americans call "Beaver Lakes." The valley nestles against the very backbone of the continental divide, 10,000 feet above sea level, and from every side it is approachable only by long and toilsome forest travel, except in winter, when it is not approachable at all. The hollow in the mountains' crest is dotted with irregular rows and miniature ranges of hills, two and three hundred feet high, that make up a most bewildering topography.

In among these hills the beaver have built them a city. The landscape is ideal for the building of their dams, and by throwing barriers of stick and mud from hillside to hillside they have created a dozen big lakes, some of them half a mile long. Along the shores of these lakes are built the beavers lodges. There are probably a thousand beaver in this community, reigning in undisputed supremacy over their mountain domain. They are shy brutes, but very early in the morning and just at sunset you can often surprise them cutting the quaking aspen on the bank with their chisel teeth or plastering away industriously at one of their elaborate dams.

BIG GUNS ARE STRENGTHENED

One Hundred and Seventeen Miles of Steel Wire Is Wound Around a Twelve-Inch Weapon.

No fewer than 118 miles of steel wire are wound on a 12-inch gun that weighs 13½ tons, says a writer in the Milgate Monthly. In appearance, this wire, which is of the same quality as piano wire, resembles tape; it is one-quarter of an inch wide and one-tenth of an inch thick. It is tested to a breaking strength of 11 tons. The wire unwinds from a reel as the gun-barrel revolves, and a tension of about 50 tons to the square inch insures mechanical accuracy in wrapping it round the gun.

Various parts of the gun receive different thicknesses of wire. At the breach of a 12-inch gun, where the chief strain comes, there are 92 layers, which give a thickness of nine and a half inches of wire, but at the muzzle there are only 14 layers. Over the wire the gunmakers shrink on steel rings at white heat. When they cool they contract and grip with immense force. The rifling of the barrel is an automatic process—an example of wonderful mechanical ingenuity. When the gun is finished experts test the accuracy of the rifling with plastic guttapercha.

The Power of Sincerity.

Though a man must be sincere in order to be great, he need not be great in order to be sincere. Whatever may be the size of our brain, the strength of our powers, the talents of any kind with which we are gifted, sincerity of heart, or belief, or life is possible to us all. It is of itself a kind of greatness which, in spite of many other drawbacks, will make itself felt. The honest, upright man, who lives openly, fearlessly, and truly, professing only what he feels, upholding only what he believes in, pretending nothing, disguising nothing, deceiving no one, claims unconsciously a respect and honor that we cannot give to any degree of power or ability wielded with duplicity or cunning. If we could correctly divide the world into the sincere and the insincere, we should have a much truer estimate of real worth than we generally obtain. It is the fashion to gauge people by what they believe, rather than how they believe it. Yet, important as is the former, the latter is much more so.—Exchange.

Incentives.

Up to the present time politicians and philosophers have not dreamed of rendering industry attractive; to enchain the mass to labor, they have discovered no other means, after slavery than the fear of want and starvation; if, however, industry is the destiny which is assigned to us by the creator, how can we think that he would wish to force us to it by violence, and that he has no notion how to put it play some more noble lever, some incentive capable of transforming its occupation into pleasures?—Charles Fourier.

The Better Plan.

Railway Foreman—Sambo, if we had war wouldn't you like to be a captain and get in front and holler: "Come on, boys?"

Sambo—No, suh, boss. I'd rather git behind and holler: "Go on, boys!"—Christian Herald.
